

MONTHLY SNEAK PEEK

The Golden Jasmine Chinese Film Festival (GJCFF) is a new initiative aimed at introducing authentic Chinese culture to the American audiences. It is a collaboration between the US-China Institute and Confucius Institute at Bryant University, the Rhode Island International Film Festival (RIIFF) and the Rhode Island Council for the Humanities.

A monthly Chinese film screening will be open to the general public. Audience will have the chance to preview and judge the latest Chinese films submitted to the Film Festival. Your scores will help us determine which films to include in this year's RIIFF.

The event is free to the public. Refreshment will be provided.

Saturday, April 5, 3:00pm, Janikie Theater

Shanghai Quest 寻梦上海

Shanghai Quest is a documentary that follows the lives of a celebrity, businessman, and a young man in Shanghai. Each of them come from background and come across different problems, but each of them has one goal in Shanghai, it is to be successful. In the end will they be able to survive in such a highly competitive city?

(not rated. Some scenes contain adult contents)

Saturday, April 5, 6:00pm, Janikie Theater

Three Chinese Boys' Journey to Basketball Championship...

Three young boys have a dream to win the annual 3-on-3 basketball competition for the prize of 1,000 Yuan. Their biggest rival is Li Wei, the school basketball captain and his team. The three boys each come across problems of their own, but will they be able to succeed and reach their goal?

Tuesday, April 22, 6:00pm, MRC4

Live in a Dilemma 瓦全

A small town that has a 20 year history of dismantling and decomposing metal scraps. More than 50,000 migrant workers are the driving force of the industry. They make month that would otherwise be impossible to realize during their lifetime in their hometown. But the over the hazardous work has taken a heavy toll from them. This short documentary is part of the Earth Day symposium featuring "China and Environment" at Bryant University.

Saturday, April 26, 6:00pm, Janikie Theater

Chinese and 2008 Olympics

China will host its first Olympic Games this summer in Beijing. This timely documentary feature explores a number of questions: What are the different views of the Chinese about the Olympics? How will they prepare to welcome the Olympic Games? And what the impacts will the Olympics have on the Chinese?

Saturday, May 10, 6:00pm, Janikie Theater

Lady Confucius 孔夫人

Kong Linghe, also known as Anita Kong, is a direct decedent of Confucius who has been living in US for years. Lady Confucius helps viewers understand the thoughts and feelings of a direct decedent of "a king without a crown." This documentary not only shows ancient traditions that still exist in present. time, but also the fame and glory that Confucius had left for his family .

GOLDEN JASMINE
CHINESE FILM FESTIVAL

